Finishing Touch

Mrs. Nathalie Robertson of Appomattox tries on her Centennial dress for a final fitting before the start of many events that will enable her and other ladies of this area to dress in the style of 100 years ago. Mrs. Robertson made her dress without a pattern "adding to it as she went." Her 82rd. birthday was Friday, so she considers it a "birthday dress, too."

A farm would have to sell for 21,834 today, just to return the same purchasing power to the owner. Furthermore, half the 11,384 difference would be subject to the capital gains tax, even though no true profit arose from the sale.

The Lynchburg Spring Feeder Calf sale will be April 15. Calves consigned must weigh at least 300 lbs. but not more than 1000 lbs. Heifers must be vaccinated for Brucellosis. Steers and heifers must be vaccinated for Blackleg, Shipping Fever, and Malignant Edema. The latter is new for 1965. Don't overlook it. Vaccination must be done between March 16 and April 5. Nomination forms can be picked up from this office.

A Life Science Training Program will be offered to outstanding high school students at VPI from June 20-July 31. Applicants must have completed 11 years. Program consists of classwork, discussion, laboratory and research in the life sciences. They include biochemistry, ecology, economics, entremology, food science, forestry, genetics, nutrition, pathology, physiology, soil science, wildlife and biochemistry. This, I believe, is a wonderful opportunity for outstanding students. Parents can help introduce their young people to new challenges and opportunities by encouraging their participation. Application forms are avialable a this office.

Feeder pig sales were real strong at the Courtland sale last month. They averaged 18.55 per head. Richmond is the nearest sale for Appomattox producers. Hogs have often been referred to as "mortgage lifters" because they usually return a profit. The two concerns in pig production are sanitation and disease control.

Last year, the average DHIA cow produced 11,685 pounds of milk and 447 pounds of fat. The importance of DHIA record-keeping continues to be increasingly evident. In 1963, DHIA cows were superior in milk yeild to non-DHIA cows by 61 per cent, or 4,328 pounds. With milk in DHIA herds valued at 4.50 per hundred, this amounts to a yearly gross income advantage of $192 per cow. Anyone for DHIA?

Marshall Field once remarked: "Land is not just a good way to make money . . . it is the only to make money" A bit of this philosophy is often heard in discussions about farms today; an opinion that farmers depend greatly upon rising land values as a return to their investments. Non-population growth and shifts in location of non-farm production. Increases in land values on farms remaining in agricultural production are less impressive when the purchasing power of the dollar is taken into account. A farm would have to sell for 21,834 today, just to return the same pur-
